Chief Magistrate's Overview

It is my pleasure to present the Magistrates Court of Queensland Annual Report for 2019-2020.

Magistrates and court staff continue to work hard to deliver justice to the people of Queensland in an efficient and accessible way. My thanks go to all magistrates and court staff for their hard work over the past year.

Court performance

In the 2019-2020 year, although there were decreases in some jurisdictions, Magistrates continued to experience significant workloads throughout the State: in the criminal jurisdiction there was a decrease of 4,644 defendants (-2.24%) but an increase of 4,444 charges (+1.05%); and child protection applications increased by 741 (+12.21%); Domestic violence applications decreased by 1,995 (-6.58%); and civil claims decreased by 5,729 (-22.72%).

Appointments and Retirements

During the reporting period there were three retirements. The Magistrates Court of Queensland was fortunate to have had the services of the following magistrates who retired during the 2019-2020 year: Magistrate Peter Smid, Magistrate Elizabeth Hall, and Magistrate John Costanzo. In the same period the Magistrates Court of Queensland welcomes the following appointments: Magistrate Trinity McGarvie; Magistrate Robert Walker; Magistrate Rosemary Gilbert; Magistrate Cameron McKenzie; Magistrate Richard Lehmann; and Magistrate Julian Noud.

Coroners Court of Queensland

During 2019-2020 the Coroner's Court managed a significant case load with 5,631 deaths reported for investigation. Despite the unforeseen difficulties arising from the COVID-19 pandemic, the Court managed to finalise more matters than were lodged. The court farewelled Deputy State Coroner John Lock, and welcomed Magistrate Jane Bentley as Deputy State Coroner. I thank the State Coroner, Terry Ryan, and Deputy State Coroners John Lock (retired) and Jane Bentley, for their leadership and support. I also thank all coroners throughout the State and staff of the Coroner's office for their significant contribution to the court.

Deputy Chief Magistrates

I acknowledge and thank each of the Deputy Chief Magistrates, Leanne O'Shea and Janelle Brassington, for their support. In particular, Deputy Chief Magistrate O'Shea for the work undertaken in the Childrens Court and Deputy Chief Magistrate Brassington for her contribution as the Coordinating Magistrate Brisbane and the work undertaken in the criminal law and domestic violence jurisdictions.

COVID-19

The onset of the coronavirus pandemic in late February 2020 presented significant challenges and opportunities for the running of Queensland Courts. Regional Coordinating Magistrates and Coordinating Magistrates have always played a critical role in the efficient running of our large and decentralised court.

The number of people that ordinarily attend the Magistrates Court meant measures had to be taken to reduce the physical presence of people in courthouses and to carry on the work of the court using telephone and video technology.

I would like to especially acknowledge my colleagues and registry staff that continue to meet the daily challenges from the pandemic.

The coordinated and collaborative responses of the legal profession led by the President of the Bar Association of Qld, Rebecca Treston QC and the President of the Queensland Law Society, Luke Murphy was extremely important in continuing the efficient administration of justice.

The pandemic focussed the courts ability to increase the use of video appearances from Correctional Centres for matters other than trials and relieved the Correctional Centres of transporting inmates to courthouses.

I would like to specially acknowledge the magistrates who implemented technology solutions that enabled the continued operations of the Court during this time. These solutions will endure for a long time to come.

The overview in this report of Brigita Cunnington, Executive Director and Principal Registrar, outlines more of the challenges and opportunities that the pandemic has brought.

The success of the court depends very much on the partnership with the Magistrates Courts Service. I have a strong and valued working relationship with Brigita Cunnington who works tirelessly to ensure a united response to the efficient operations of Magistrates Courts across the state. I thank Ms Cunnington for her leadership and counsel during this year. The Magistrates Court is extremely well served by its dedicated registry staff throughout Queensland.

The staff of the Chief Magistrates Office, led by manager Nicola Azgin, provide high quality support to myself, the Deputy Chief Magistrates, magistrates and acting magistrates throughout the state. Each staff member, Trudy Abdurhman, Isabella Young, Samantha Bartlett, Astrid McEachan-Hale, Rhiannon Davy, Kalinda Cheung, Kimone Govender (Brisbane), Josephine Stevens (Cairns), Deanna Cahill (Townsville) and Diane Restieaux (Southport) bring great credit to the Office of the Chief Magistrate and I am extremely proud of the work they do. I acknowledge also past staff members Maddison Kerr, Ellie Stone (Brisbane) and Dianne Long (Cairns) for the contribution to the office.

I would also like to thank Maryanne May, Principal Legal Officer, Michelle Weaver, Legal Officer and Danielle Palmer, Legal Officer for their assistance to the Deputy Chief Magistrates, the magistrates and myself throughout the year.

Judge Terry Gardiner Chief Magistrate

Executive Director's Overview

The Magistrates Courts Services (MCS) is part of Court Services Queensland (CSQ), which sits within the Justice Services Division of the Department of Justice and Attorney-General (DJAG). CSQ also includes the Supreme, District and Land Courts' Service and Reform and Support Services.

MCS comprises over 800 staff who are responsible for delivering justice services in 52 metropolitan, suburban, regional and remote centres across Queensland. MCS supports the operation of Queensland's Magistrates Courts in registries located in the discrete geographical regions of North Queensland, Central Queensland, Sunshine Coast and Western Queensland, South Queensland and Brisbane. As Queensland's court of summary jurisdiction, the Magistrates Courts is the highest volume jurisdiction – over 90 per cent of all matters that go before a court in Queensland do so before a Magistrates Court.

Additionally, in many regional and remote areas MCS delivers registry services to support the operation of the Supreme and District Courts, and provides a wide range of government service, information and referrals as local registries also operate as Queensland Government Agency Program (QGAP) offices.

MCS is responsible for supporting the Coroners Court of Queensland (CCQ) and Queensland's coroners who reside in Cairns, Mackay, Brisbane and Southport. It also includes the Courts Innovation Program (CIP) which delivers specialist courts and programs such as the Queensland Drug and Alcohol Court, Court Link, specialist domestic and family violence courts, the Murri Court and the Community Justice Group grant program.

2019-2020 highlights

Response to the COVID-19 pandemic

The COVID-19 pandemic significantly affected Magistrates Court operations during the final quarter of 2019-2020. From 27 March 2020 Magistrates Courts operated under Practice Directions issued by the Chief Magistrate which were designed to reduce the number of people present in courthouses and limit opportunities for transmission of the virus. This involved adjourning non-urgent matters and requiring appearances by phone or video conference except in limited circumstances.

Following the easing of restrictions in Queensland in June, a new Practice Direction was issued and, from 15 June 2020, Magistrates Courts transitioned to hearing more matters but parties were still encouraged to appear by phone or video conference and to seek electronic adjournments and consent orders and plead guilty online where appropriate.

COVID-19 Management Principles were developed in consultation with Queensland Health so that Magistrates Courts across the state had a consistent approach to screening, signage, cleaning, hygiene and social distancing requirements. However, given the wide variation in courthouse facilities, local plans were developed by local Registrars in consultation with key stakeholders about how to make things work in light of the social distancing requirements at particular locations. This was a huge effort and I thank all MCS staff for their hard work and dedication during this challenging and unprecedented time.

Operating under COVID-19 arrangements presents particular challenges for the Magistrates Courts where processes are still largely paper-based – the need for electronic case management systems is clearer than ever. However, COVID-19 provided the impetus to embed the use of technological solutions in the courtroom including conducting callovers and hearings by phone and video conference. It also provided the impetus to develop a new Online Application for a Court Event Form in the adult criminal jurisdiction encouraging parties to seek appropriate orders without coming to court. Perhaps the biggest 'silver lining' was the engagement of stakeholders across the system. It was inspiring to see the deep collaboration across CSQ and DJAG, with the judiciary and with court stakeholders.

Additional funding for court staff

In September 2019, approval was obtained to create 23 new positions across CSQ to help manage workloads, improve our ability to support the judiciary and provide services to the community.

The positions included two new Senior Director positions that report to the Executive Director, MCS. The Senior Director, Court Operations, oversees the delivery of Magistrates Court operations across the state. The four Regional Directors and the Director, Brisbane Magistrates Court report to this position. The Senior Director is also responsible, through the Regional Directors, for the delivery of Supreme and District Court services outside of Brisbane. Lisa Nother has been appointed to the Senior Director, Court Operations position.

The Senior Director, CIP oversees the delivery of all CIP programs. The three CIP Directors report to this role. The focus of the three CIP Directors were realigned with a Director responsible for policy, research and evaluation, a Director responsible for specialist courts and referral services and a Director responsible for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander programs. Angela Moy has been appointed to the Senior Director, CIP position.

Additional funding enabled MCS to create stand-alone Deputy Principal Registrar (DPR) role to focus on excellence in court practice. Melissa Wilson has been appointed as DPR. The DPR is responsible for leading the Court Practice Group (CPG) and Regional Practice Networks (RPN). Both the CPG and the RPN have achieved good outcomes in the last financial year including streamlining registry processes and procedures, improving banking arrangements for registry staff and implementing statewide access to the online search and copy function, including automated payments.

A focus on improving registry practice and innovation

Additional funding has enabled the creation of a new Practice and Innovation (P&I) team with the DPR being the Director of the newly formed team. Aligning with the role of the DPR, the P&I team analyses current operating practices and looks for innovation opportunities. The P&I team comprises jurisdictional leads (criminal, civil and childrens), a business analyst and legal officers with a development, training and engagement focus. The P&I team is embedded in the CPG and RPNs to learn about local registry innovations and ideas for change that may have state-wide application.

In 2019-2020 the Queensland Government provided funding to establish an actively managed, dedicated remand list to identify and deliver enhanced approaches to remand and implement magistrate-led watchhouse training for Queensland Police Service watchhouse staff. The P&I team were involved in commencing both initiatives in early 2020. Although implementation was disrupted by COVID-19, the remand list recommenced in June 2020.

Other P&I team initiatives during 2019-2020 included:

- Developing a data model to provide data analytics on the operation of the Childrens Court;
- Developing training and ID cards for bailiffs to achieve consistency with Supreme and District Court practices;
- Developing an Electronic Bailiff Book.

Enhancing communication and support for MCS staff

In January 2020, MCS launched resources to support the development of positive working relationships between staff and magistrates. The "Working with magistrates" resources cover the organisational environment of the Magistrates Court, behaviours that underpin positive working relationships, expectations of both magistrates and MCS staff and practical tools and tips to foster and support positive working relationships.

The dispersed nature of MCS presents challenges for keeping staff informed. Prompted by the success of using Microsoft Teams instead of face to face meetings in response to COVID, on 18 June 2020, I held the first ED Forum via Teams which was open to all staff. 122 people from across the state joined the first forum. ED Forums will be held every two months. Combined with the push of information using Yammer, and dedicated intranet pages on topics relevant to MCS staff can feel assured that they are being kept informed.

Court facilities

Major court refurbishments occurred during 2019-2020 including:

- Renovations at Townsville and Beenleigh Courthouses to support the specialist DFV courts.
- Work on the façade of the Rockhampton Courthouse.
- A new courtroom and DFV safe room facilities at Richlands Courthouse.
- Refurbishment of the Bundaberg Courthouse including replacement of the air conditioning chiller.

Continuing reform in the Coroners Court of Queensland

Reforms continued in the Coroners Court of Queensland (CCQ) in response to the Queensland Audit Office review of the coronial system. This included commencing a second Coronial Registrar to create efficiencies by ensuring only deaths requiring investigation and autopsy are brought into the system; and making improvements to arrangements for managing government-contracted funeral directors and the funeral assistance scheme. Raelene Speers was appointed as the permanent Director, CCQ during 2019-2020.

Other key achievements during the year include:

- bringing leaders and managers together for the Courts Leadership Conferences to talk about our changing business and develop skills to respond to and influence change;
- launching the Workload Management Tool Build My Registry to help us manage workloads with optimum resources;
- developing the Dispersed Team Strategy a framework and tools to manage dispersed teams in 52 registries state-wide;
- securing additional resources to progress initiatives such as Murri Court at Ipswich and expand Court Link.

Looking forward

COVID-19 has changed the landscape of court services statewide. The new challenge will be to harness the opportunities and initiatives developed during this time and build them into the business as usual operations of the court. This will require ongoing collaboration between court staff, the judiciary, stakeholders and court clients.

Gatton will soon transition from the One-Stop Shop (OSS) program to the Queensland Government Agent Program (QGAP) under the lead agency management of the Department of Transport and Main Roads (DTMR). Work is progressing on the transfer arrangements that will mirror the Regional Services Outlet program under which 26 DJAG-led QGAPs transferred to DTMR between 2016-2018. There will be no change to services provided at Gatton, including court services. Hub and Spoke arrangements are already in place for Gatton, with Toowoomba being the Hub Court and staff at both locations being used to working together to provide justice services and support the court circuits from Toowoomba.

Thanks and acknowledgements

Early in 2019-2020 we farewelled Judge Rinaudo as Chief Magistrate and welcomed new Chief Magistrate Judge Terry Gardiner and a new Deputy Chief Magistrate, Magistrate Brassington.

It was an honour to work with Judge Rinaudo during his term as Chief Magistrate. I am proud of the good working relationship between magistrates and court staff. MCS is a unique working environment – magistrates and MCS staff have different and separate reporting structures. With no single authority that oversees both cohorts, a harmonious working relationship is vital. I look forward to continuing to work with His Honour Judge Terry Gardiner, Chief Magistrate, ensuring the community has confidence in the Magistrates Courts of Queensland.

Delivery of Queensland Court services is supported by multi-disciplinary teams in Reform and Support Services (RSS). RSS provide services across a range of areas including court technology and systems, policies and procedures, training and development, finance and data. MCS staff rely on this expert assistance, a reliance that was increased with the challenges of this year. I thank Stephanie Attard, Executive Director, Reform and Support Services, and her staff for their support for MCS in the day-to-day operations.

Lastly, I wish to thank all MCS staff. The work is high pressure and high volume, and COVID-19 has increased the day to day challenges faced by court staff. MCS staff have shown ingenuity and resilience during difficult times and are to be commended for their professionalism and dedication.

Court Performance

Of all the courts in Queensland it is the Magistrates Courts that most people will have contact with; over 90 percent of all matters that go before a court in Queensland do so before a Magistrates Court.

In addition to the founding Justices Act 1886 and Magistrates Courts Act 1921, there are a number of other pieces of legislation which establish a variety of jurisdictions within the Magistrates Courts. Each of these Acts essentially limits magistrates to dealing with a particular kind of matter within a specialised court or tribunal that uses a variant set of rules. This includes:

- The Childrens Court Act 1992 which establishes the Childrens Court of Queensland jurisdiction;
- The Industrial Relations Act 1999 which establishes the Industrial Magistrates Court jurisdiction;
- The Coroners Act 2003 which establishes the Coroners Court jurisdiction; and
- The Queensland Civil & Administrative Tribunal Act 2009 which establishes the Queensland Civil & Administrative Tribunal jurisdiction.

A number of specialist courts have also been administratively established to provide expertise and support, both in the delivery of sentencing processes and programs implementing governing principles under the Penalties and Sentences Act 1992 to address the needs of persons from marginalised and disadvantaged backgrounds, and for persons experiencing domestic violence. These include:

- Domestic & Family Violence specialist courts (implementing jurisdiction conferred on magistrate courts by the Domestic & Family Violence Protection Act 2012)
- Drug & Alcohol Courts (which provide an intensive and targeted response to adult offenders with severe drug and alcohol use directly associated with their offending)
- Murri Courts (which connect Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander defendants with treatment and support services prior to sentencing)

In these various jurisdictions, the Magistrates Courts are required to deal with an extensive number of difference types of offences, claims, applications and appeals incorporated in over 300 different pieces of legislation from Federal, State and Local governments.

Criminal Jurisdiction

The work of the Magistrates Courts is generally understood to be broadly divided into two types of proceedings: criminal and civil. Matters are considered criminal if they are a proceeding for the prosecution of an offence. While the criminal jurisdiction includes offences against the Criminal Code, other offences which are often not considered criminal also fall under this wide jurisdictional heading, including minor offences such as those contained in the Summary Offences Act 2005, traffic offences and quasi-criminal offences.

The term Quasi-Criminal offences describes those regulatory offences prosecuted by Public Officers. Included are breaches of areas of law controlled by government agencies at the Local, State and Federal levels (e.g. building codes, environment protection laws and taxation).

Approximately 95 per cent of all criminal matters in Queensland are dealt with by the Magistrates Courts. The overwhelming majority of the work of the Magistrates Courts involves criminal matters, and these matters are dealt with in the Magistrates Courts as constituted under the Justices Act 1886.

The Magistrates Courts hear and determine all Local, State and Commonwealth summary offences. They also hear and determine a wide range of indictable offences. If the court does not have the jurisdiction to deal with an indictable offence a committal hearing is conducted. This is to determine if there is sufficient evidence to commit the defendant to the District Court or Supreme Court so that the matter can be finalised there. So, while the Magistrates Courts actually finalise the vast majority of offences dealt with in the criminal justice system, they also initially manage the more serious criminal matters which are ultimately finalised in either the Supreme or District Courts of Queensland.

Appendix 1 contains a table showing the statistics for lodgements in the Criminal jurisdiction by defendant.

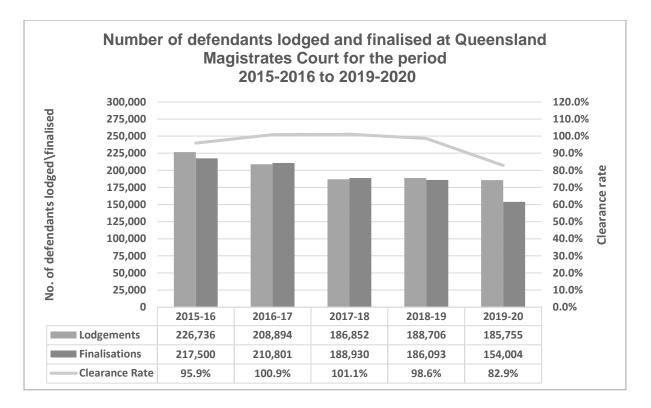

Total Criminal

The total number of defendants dealt with by magistrates sitting as Magistrates Courts and the Childrens Court in the reporting year is 202,550. This is a decrease in the number of defendants dealt with over last year of 4,644 (-2.24 per cent).

The total number of criminal charges dealt with by magistrates in the year of reporting is 429,520. This is an increase from last year of 4,444 (+1.05 per cent). These total figures include both adult and juvenile defendants.

Magistrates Court (Adult Criminal)

In relation to adult defendants 185,755 adults were dealt with on 387,270 charges. While this is a decrease in the number of adult defendants from last year of 2,951 (-1.56 per cent) there was an increase in the number of charges from last year of 5,776 (+1.51 per cent).

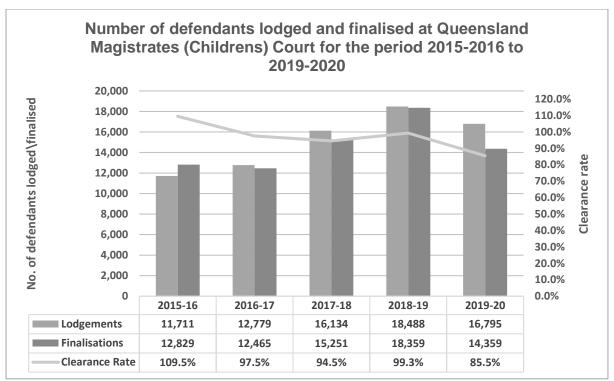

Childrens Court of Queensland (Magistrates) – Criminal Jurisdiction

The Childrens Court of Queensland is established under the Childrens Court Act 1992 and provides for the appointment of a Childrens Court magistrate. Deputy Chief Magistrate O'Shea is one of the Childrens Court Magistrates and sits at the Brisbane Childrens Court. The Act provides that any magistrate may constitute a Childrens Court when required. Its criminal jurisdiction is exercised under the Youth Justices Act 1992 and it provides comprehensive law for dealing with young people who are charged with offences, including the diversion of young people from the criminal justice system by such methods as police issuing cautions or referring offences to youth justice conferencing.

Youth justice conferencing brings the young person and their victim together to discuss the offence, its impact on the victim and the community and how the young person can address the harm caused. In the majority of these conferences all of the parties are satisfied with the outcome and the matter does not have to go before the Court.

16,795 young people appeared before Magistrates sitting as the Childrens Court during the reporting year on a total of 42,250 charges. This is a decrease from last year of 1,693 young people (-9.16 per cent) and a decrease of 1,332 charges (-3.06 per cent).

Magistrates deal with virtually all Childrens Court criminal matters, either finalising them or conducting a committal hearing before referring them to the District Court, Supreme Court or Childrens Court of Queensland Judge to be finalised there. Magistrates sitting in the Childrens Court finalise approximately 92.9 per cent of all Childrens Court criminal matters.

Note: The clearance rates reported above differ from the DJAG Annual Report. The DJAG Annual Report includes Childrens Court figures from all Court levels.

Further information about the operations of the Childrens Court can be obtained from the Childrens Court of Queensland Annual Report.

Appendix 1 contains a table including statistics for criminal lodgements of the Childrens Court of Queensland (Magistrates). For an explanation of the statistical method used in this report see the explanatory notes to the Appendices.

Commonwealth

The Judiciary Act 1903 (Commonwealth) provides that State courts have jurisdiction in relation to people who are charged with offences against the laws of the Commonwealth. While these proceedings are conducted according to State laws the sentencing is provided for by the Crimes Act 1914 (Commonwealth). The main areas dealt with by the Court under Commonwealth legislation relate to taxation, social security, customs and immigration.

The number of defendants before the Court on Commonwealth matters for the year of reporting was 1,989, a decrease of 253 (-11.28 per cent). The number of charges for Commonwealth offences dealt with by the Magistrates Courts during the reporting year was 6,062, which is a decrease from last year of 2,987 (-33.01 per cent).

Industrial Magistrates Court

The Industrial Relations Act 1999 authorises every magistrate in Queensland to sit as an Industrial magistrate. The matters Industrial magistrates hear are wage claims and prosecutions that relate to workplace health and safety and electrical safety.

Under the Workplace Health and Safety Act 1995 the Court dealt with 94 defendants who were charged with a total of 124 charges. That is an increase of 61 defendants (+184.85 per cent) and an increase of 82 charges (+195.24 per cent) from last year. During the reporting period the Industrial Magistrates Court dealt with 14 defendants on 20 charges under the Electrical Safety Act 2002.

Civil Jurisdiction

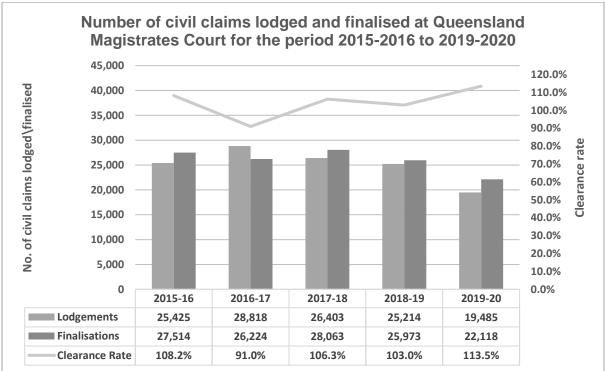

The work of the Magistrates Courts is generally understood to be broadly divided into two types of proceedings: civil and criminal. Essentially all proceedings that are not for the prosecution of an offence are considered civil.

The term civil is derived from the area of civil litigation, but there are other kinds of matters included in the civil jurisdiction, such as applications for domestic violence protection orders and child protection applications.

Civil claims

The Magistrates Courts, as established by the Magistrates Courts Act 1921, are able to determine civil claims up to a value of $150,000. The number of claims dealt with by the Magistrates Court during the reporting year was 19,485, a decrease of 5,729 from last year (-22.72 per cent).

Appendix 2 contains a table showing the statistics for lodgements in the civil claims jurisdiction by the number of cases.

Note: The clearance rates reported above differ from the DJAG Annual Report. The civil figures in the DJAG Annual Report include Domestic and Family Violence protection order applications, as per the Report on Government Services counting rules. Domestic and Family Violence applications are reported separately in this report.

Queensland Civil and Administrative Tribunal

The Queensland Civil and Administrative Tribunal (QCAT) is a separate entity from the Magistrates Courts and produces its own annual report.

QCAT deals with many kinds of proceedings, however, its largest jurisdiction is minor civil disputes. In South-East Queensland minor civil disputes are heard by specialised QCAT adjudicators. In the rest of the state however, minor civil disputes are heard by magistrates sitting as ordinary members of QCAT. The hearing of QCAT matters forms a significant portion of the workload of magistrates who sit outside of South-East Queensland.

During the reporting year, out of the 21,829 minor civil disputes that were lodged with QCAT 6,668 (30.55 per cent) were lodged in locations where they would be dealt with by a magistrate.

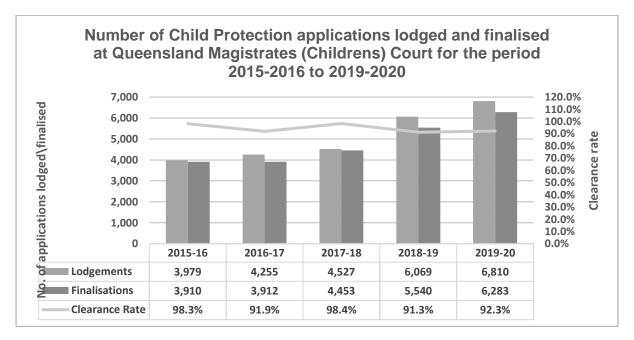

Childrens Court of Queensland (Magistrates) – Civil Jurisdiction

The Childrens Court of Queensland is established under the Childrens Court Act 1992 and exercises its civil jurisdiction mainly under the Child Protection Act 1989, but also under other legislation such as the Child Protection (Offender Prohibition Order) Act 2008 and the Adoption Act 2009.

Child protection applications are heard by magistrates sitting in the Childrens Court, and additionally urgent temporary applications may be made after hours by telephone or facsimile. Many of the child protection applications are contested, however a large portion are resolved in court ordered conferences. During the reporting year 6,810 child protection applications were lodged, an increase from last year of 741 (+12.21 per cent).

Further information about the operations of the Childrens Court can be obtained from the Childrens Court of Queensland Annual Report.

Appendix 4 contains a table showing the statistics for lodgements in the Child Protection jurisdiction by the number of cases. For an explanation of the statistical method used in this report see the explanatory notes to the Appendices.

Domestic and Family Violence

The purpose of the Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 2012 is to provide safety and protection for people from further violence occurring in domestic relationships through the making of protection orders. The Act covers physical, emotional and financial violence committed in spousal, intimate personal, family and informal care relationships.

This is a demanding area for the courts as the parties are often unrepresented and unfamiliar with court proceedings, and in addition may be distraught, emotional, anxious and in fear for their personal safety.

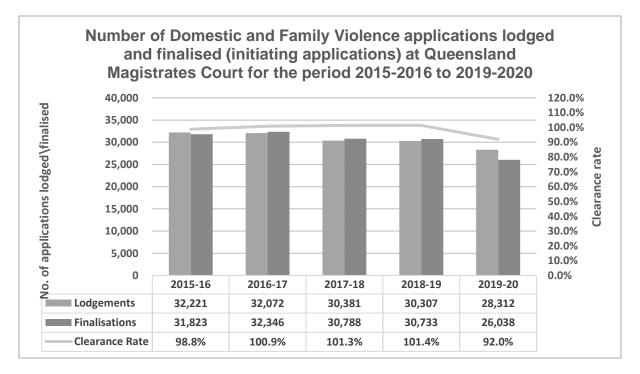

The importance of protection orders is well recognised – they not only provide for the physical safety and security of the aggrieved person (the person seeking protection) but also provide an element of control and stability which helps them to carry on with their lives.

The police may assist an aggrieved person in their application to the court by appearing for them, which is a great help in expediting the matter and helping the aggrieved persons obtaining appropriate protection. The police also have a responsibility to make applications for protection orders should they witness domestic violence. Usually this happens with the support of the aggrieved person, but even where there is opposition by the aggrieved person the police are obliged to pursue the making of a protection order.

In many centres domestic violence support services are available and they are of great benefit to the aggrieved persons that come to court. They assist in explaining the process to obtain, and the value of, protection orders, as well as making the attendance at court less stressful. They also provide information about, and referrals to, other support services.

During the reporting year there were 28,312 applications for protection orders lodged in Queensland which is a decrease from the year before of 1,995 (-6.58 per cent).

Appendix 3 contains a table showing the statistics for lodgements in the domestic and family violence jurisdiction by the number of cases.

Industrial Magistrates Court

The Industrial Relations Act 1999 authorises every magistrate in Queensland to sit as an Industrial Magistrate. The civil aspect of the Industrial Magistrates Court consists of a limited range of appeals under the Workers' Compensation and Rehabilitation Act 2003. The number of appeals dealt with by the court for the year of reporting was 2, which is a decrease of 2 from last year.

Coronial Jurisdiction

The Coroners Court of Queensland provides Queenslanders with a consistent and coordinated system to review deaths occurring in circumstances where further explanation is needed. The State Coroner, Magistrate Terry Ryan, is responsible for overseeing and coordinating Queensland's coronial jurisdiction which is governed by the Coroners Act 2003 and supported by key agencies, the Department of Justice and Attorney-General (DJAG), the Queensland Police Service (QPS) and Queensland Health (QH).

Queensland's seven specialist coroners located in Brisbane, Southport, Mackay and Cairns investigate certain deaths as mandated by the Coroners Act 2003. The Chief Magistrate has also allocated a part-time magistrate and an acting magistrate to work in the coronial jurisdiction on an ongoing basis. The primary function of a coroner is to make findings (if possible) about the cause and circumstances of a death. A coronial registrar and deputy registrar based in Brisbane 'triage' deaths from apparent natural causes and review potentially reportable deaths lodged by medical practitioners and funeral directors.

During 2019-2020 the court managed a significant case load with 5,631 deaths reported for investigation and encountered unforeseen difficulties as a result of the impact of COVID-19. Despite this the court achieved a clearance rate of 102.02 percent at the end of the reporting period, meaning it finalised more matters than were lodged.

As part of a phased approach the court, in conjunction with the Coronial Services Governance Board,¹ continued planning and implementing the seven recommendations made in the Queensland Audit Office report, Delivering Coronial Services.² The 2018 audit identified system pressures, such as increasing demand and complexity of cases, growing family expectations and the need for legislative changes to drive system improvements.

In June 2019, the State Government committed an additional investment in coronial services of $3.9M over the next four years, including $474,000 per annum ongoing. This funding was allocated to DJAG, QH and the QPS. Of note, it included funding to establish a temporary second coronial registrar and multidisciplinary team to triage all apparent natural causes' deaths, which represent a significant percentage of deaths reported to the court each year. The trial commenced in September 2019 and is intended to reduce service demands on partner agencies and ensure bereaved families avoid unnecessary contact with the coronial system.

A key highlight for the coronial system during the reporting period were amendments to the Coroners Act with the passing of the Justice and Other Legislation Amendment Act 2020. Significantly, the amendments mean that the Coroners Act 1958 will no longer apply to deaths investigated by coroners. Coroners have been given greater powers to compel witnesses to give evidence at inquests where the death occurred prior to 2003. The amendments also authorise 'preliminary examination procedures' without the need for a coroner to make a formal order for post-mortem examination.

¹ The Board consists of the State and Deputy State Coroner's, senior representatives from DJAH, QH, QPS, Queensland Treasury and the Department of the Premier and Cabinet.

² Queensland Audit Office report – Delivering Coronial Services (Report 6:2018-19).

The court farewelled Deputy State Coroner, John Lock, who retired from the general magistracy after more than a decade's service with the Coroners Court. Mr Lock investigated thousands of deaths and presided over several noteworthy, high-profile inquests during his term as Brisbane Coroner and Deputy State Coroner. Magistrate Jane Bentley was appointed to the position of Deputy State Coroner for a term ending 19 March 2023. Magistrate Don MacKenzie was also appointed as Brisbane Coroner for two years from 1 July 2019. The court further welcomed a permanent director with Ms Raelene Speers commencing in the role in October 2019.

Community and media interest in the coronial jurisdiction continued with the handing down of high-profile inquests findings including the Dreamworld deaths which received world-wide media attention, the tragic deaths from the Ravenshoe Café explosion, the multiple fatality tandem parachute deaths at the Caboolture airfield and the joint inquest into the capsize of two fishing vessels which resulted in the loss of eight lives. The inquest into the child death of Mason Lee held in the 'public interest' received considerable media attention and resulted in six recommendations being made to reduce the risk of a death in those circumstances from happening again in future.

Further information in relation to the coronial system may be found in the Coroners Court of Queensland Annual Report for 2019-2020.

Courts Innovation Program

Magistrates Court of Queensland Reconciliation Action Plan (MCQ RAP)

The MCQ RAP 2018-2021 was launched in June 2018. The MCQ RAP aims to address the barriers that exist for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people when coming into contact with Magistrates Courts in Queensland.

The MCQ RAP contains 14 actions and 72 deliverables. A working group comprised of judicial officers and MCQ staff oversee the implementation of the MCQ RAP. The MCQ RAP Working Group has embraced the opportunity to improve relationships and court performance by developing innovative and tangible initiatives on the journey of reconciliation.

Throughout 2019-2020 a number of initiatives were introduced as part of the MCQ RAP. These included:

- establishing an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander staff peer network for support;
- engaging Tagai Management Consultants to develop a recruitment and retention strategy for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander staff;
- creating a cultural awareness training matrix for staff and magistrates;
- hosting online events for National Reconciliation Week, including an online Deadly Tukka cooking class, participating in a panel discussion about the Australian Dream documentary and completing a RAP challenge over seven weeks focused on language and culture;
- a presentation by the Cherbourg Dormitory Boys to commemorate the anniversary of the National Apology to the Stolen Generations hosted by Chief Magistrate, Judge Gardiner, and
- completing the RAP Impact Measurement Questionnaire for the 2018-2019 period.

Looking ahead to 2020-2021, work will continue to deliver the MCQ RAP actions, including:

- finalising the Magistrates Induction Booklet, which includes relevant excerpts from the Equal Treatment Benchbook and information on how to engage with local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities across the state;
- developing systems to track, measure and report on RAP activities;
- building the cultural competency of Magistrates and court staff, including the development of a gratuitous concurrence training package; and
- working with Traditional Owners and Community Justice Groups to rename some of the Murri Courts in Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander language.

Courts Innovation Program (CIP)

The primary goal of CIP is to design and facilitate programs that respond to the needs of people as they interact with the justice system, who may be from marginalised and disadvantaged backgrounds, especially those with multiple and complex needs.

CIP has three specific program areas:

- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Justice Programs and Partnerships
- Specialist Courts, Referral and Support Programs
- Domestic and Family Violence Programs

CIP programs address the underlying causes of offending by linking offenders to health and social services, supporting victims of crime and providing culturally appropriate responses for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people to help address their over representation in the criminal justice system both as offenders and victims.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Justice Programs and Partnerships

Elders and Respected Persons are the cornerstone of the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Justice programs delivered by CIP. Elders and Respected Persons throughout Queensland are heavily involved in the operation of Community Justice Groups (CJGs). Their ongoing support and commitment to working within their communities to support people engaged with the justice system is acknowledge and deeply appreciated. CJGs are key to the success of the CJG program, Murri Courts, the Domestic and Family Violence (DFV) Enhancement Program, the DFV Specialist Courts, Remote JP Courts and the Aurukun Restorative Justice Program.

Community Justice Groups (CJG)

The CJG program supports CJGs to work with their local community to develop strategies for dealing with justice-related issues and support Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people who have come into contact with the criminal justice system. More broadly, the program aims to build the CJG's local authority to address justice-related issues within their community.

The Department of Justice and Attorney-General (DJAG) funds 40 CJGs throughout Queensland and provides a smaller amount of funding to 10 CJGs in the outer islands of the Torres Strait to support court circuits.

CJGs perform important activities to support courts including, making cultural submissions on behalf of defendants, identifying culturally appropriate support and treatment programs and providing cultural support to defendants as they progress through the Murri Court program. In doing so, CJGs also increase and enhance cultural understanding within the courts and the wider criminal justice system.

The CJG Program provides community members with the opportunity to work collaboratively with the courts, police, and staff from other government agencies to address criminal behaviour, and provide support and assistance to victims of crime. CJGs continue to develop and maintain strong working relationships with many non-governmental agencies to identify and promote referral pathways for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander defendants and link victims and defendants to appropriate support services.

In the 2019-2020 Budget, CJGs received further funding of $19.4 million over four years (and $5.4 million ongoing) so they can continue to support Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples in the criminal justice system.

The enhanced CJG program funding is being rolled out in two phases. Phase one has concluded with an additional one-off grant of $65,000 provided to the CJGs in 2019-2020. Phase two requires direct funding negotiation of new triennial service agreements for the period of 1 July 2020 to 30 June 2023.

As part of the funding increase, DJAG has been working with CJGs and other government agencies to develop a whole-of-government strategic framework to support CJGs. This framework will provide clarity about the role of CJGs and operate as a vehicle for government departments and agencies to identify ways of working together to acknowledge, remunerate and support the work of CJGS. This framework will be released in the second half of 2020.

In 2019-2020, CJGs provided 1,333 written or oral bail and sentence submissions to Magistrates Courts. Collectively, CJGs throughout Queensland provided 2,565 referrals to support services.

Community Justice Groups (CJG) Domestic and Family Violence (DFV) Program

The CJG DFV enhancement program aims to build the capacity of CJGs in discrete communities to respond to DFV. It also aims to support the CJGs to establish or develop the capacity of local authority groups to respond to DFV, crime and violence.

Since 2017-2018, DJAG has undertaken co-design activities in discrete communities throughout Queensland. The local responses implemented range from employment of male and female DFV support workers, employment of DFV program manager/coordinators and delivery of on-country and cultural healing programs.

In 2019-2020 work has been completed with 13 discrete communities, including Cherbourg, Coen, Doomadgee, Mornington Island, Mossman, Hope Vale, Palm Island, Woorabinda, Wujal Wujal, Pormpuraaw, Napranum, Northern Peninsula Area and Thursday Island.

Work has commenced in Kowanyama and Mapoon to co-design a local response, and the program is expected to be rolled out in remaining communities (Yarrabah, Aurukun and Lockhart River) by 30 June 2021.

Specialist Courts, Referral and Support Programs

Queensland Drug and Alcohol Court (QDAC)

QDAC commenced in Brisbane on 29 January 2018 in response to the Queensland Drug and Specialists Courts Review: Final Report. It provides an intensive and targeted response to adult offenders with severe drug and/or alcohol use directly associated with their offending.

The QDAC aims to improve community safety by focusing on the rehabilitation of offenders so they can reintegrate back into the community. Long terms goals of the program include reducing crime and increasing the community's confidence in the criminal justice system.

Referrals to QDAC are assessed through a multi-agency assessment process and suitable participants are sentenced to a drug and alcohol treatment order as an alternative to imprisonment.

The operation of QDAC relied on an integrated approach by the judiciary and other participating agencies including the Queensland Police Service, Queensland Corrective Services, Legal Aid Queensland, Queensland Health and DJAG. This ensures all QDAC participants receive the necessary supervision, treatment and interventions to address their drug and alcohol use and offending behaviour.

A component of the QDAC program is access to culturally appropriate support. Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander participants are provided with support via a dedicated QDAC Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Cultural Liaison Officer.

In May 2019, the QDAC reached capacity with 125 participants either undergoing assessment for, or sentenced to, a Drug and Alcohol Treatment Order. As a result, the program was unable to accept new referrals. Referrals re-opened briefly in March 2020, but due to COVID-19 referrals were again closed. Referrals re-opened in June 2020.

In response to COVID-19, participants' court monitoring, individual treatment and case management occurred over the phone rather than in-person until June 2020.

During 2019-2020, 15 participants graduated from the QDAC program after successfully reaching the goals for each of the three phases of the program.

An external evaluation of the QDAC is being undertaken by ARTD Consultants. The external evaluation commenced in 2019 and is expected to be finalised by mid-2023. Throughout the evaluation, DJAG is working with QDAC agencies to identify and implement opportunities to enhance program delivery with a focus on supporting positive outcomes for participants and the broader community.

Court Link

Court Link is a generic integrated assessment, bail-based referral and support program, which aims to address the underlying factors contributing to offending. These may include homelessness or housing instability, lack of employment, mental or physical health issues and/or substance abuse. Professionally qualified Court Link case managers assess referred defendants and provide case management services for defendants with a moderate to high risk of re-offending and refer defendants with a lower risk of reoffending to treatment or support services. Judicial monitoring of the participant's progress is also an integral aspect of the program.

In 2019-2020, DJAG in partnership with Queensland Health expanded Court Link to Maroochydore, Redcliffe and Caboolture, leveraging the existing resourcing for the Queensland Magistrates Early Referral into Treatment (QMERIT) program in Redcliffe and Maroochydore. Operations commenced in these locations in December 2019. Court Link also commenced operations in Mount Isa in January 2020, in addition to sites already operating in Brisbane Southport, Ipswich and Cairns.

In March 2020 Court Link temporarily stopped accepting new referrals due to COVID-19. Court Link was able to start accepting new referrals again in June 2020. Case management and support for Court Link participants continued throughout, occurring over the phone where inperson case management was not possible.

In 2019-2020, Court Link made 125 community referrals for defendants to receive treatment in the community, 341 participants were placed on the program for case management and a total of 204 participants completed 12 weeks on case management.

An external evaluation of Court Link is being undertaken by Siggins Miller Consultants. This external evaluation commenced in 2019 and will be completed by 2023.

Murri Court

Murri Court is a bail-based specialist court program which provides an opportunity for members of the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community (including Elders and victims) to participate in the court process.

Defendants are required to take responsibility for their offending and Elders or Respected Persons from the community are in the courtroom to guide and encourage defendants, and help magistrates understand more about defendants' personal and cultural circumstances. Participants can be referred to treatment and support services, as well as taking part in cultural activities including yarning circles and Men's and Women's groups.

Stakeholders participating in Murri Court are encouraged to speak in "plain English" rather than legal jargon, and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander flags and local artwork are displayed in the courtrooms.

Murri Courts operate at Maroochydore, Brisbane, Caboolture, Cairns, Cherbourg, Cleveland, Mackay, Mount Isa, Richlands, Rockhampton, St George, Toowoomba, Townsville, Ipswich and Wynnum.

In 2019-2020, Murri Courts received 328 referrals, which resulted in 230 participants in the program (including participants who commenced in the previous financial year), and 146 finalisations.

While Murri Court Elders did not attend Murri Courts in person during COVID-19, where possible Elders connected with and provided support to participants over the phone.

High Risk Youth Court (HRYC)

The HRYC was established on 2 February 2017, as part of the Townsville Community Youth Response developed out of the Queensland Government's five-point plan to reduce youth crime in Townsville.

The HRYC is for defendants aged between 10 and 17 who are identified as being repeat offenders, who have multiple factors associated with a high risk of future offending. With a dedicated magistrate, the HRYC provides an opportunity to monitor young people's engagement with Youth Justice and other services, and prioritise sentencing options which ensure young people are giving back to the community.

In 2019-2020 a cultural enhancement model for the HRYC was designed with the Townsville Community Justice Group (TCJG) to support Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander participants and respond to recommendations 15 and 16 of the Townsville's Voice: Local Solutions to Address Youth Crime report. The model has been implemented by the TCJG which received funding in February 2020.

Illicit Drugs Court Diversion Program (CDP)

CDP is a program targeting offenders who plead guilty to eligible minor drug offences. It aims to address defendants' drug use in its early stages and reduce further drug-related offending. For adult offenders, the court orders they attend a drug assessment and education session (DAES) as a condition of a recognisance order imposed, instead of a traditional fine. The court refers juvenile offenders to attend a DAES by way of a verbal direction. CDP is available in all Magistrates and Children's Courts in Queensland.

In October 2019, a state-wide telephone service, Tele-D, was established to deliver CDP. Tele-D is available between 7am and 10pm, 7 days a week and forms part of Queensland Health's Adis service. Tele-D is expected to contribute to reducing wait times, improving program completion and improving access to diversion programs for people who find it challenging to attend a service face-to-face, or during business hours.

In 2019-20, 2,709 defendants (2,535 adults and 174 juveniles) were assessed for CDP. A total of 2,502 defendants (2,339 adults and 163 juveniles) were found to be eligible and ordered to complete a drug assessment and education session. Of these, 2,391 defendants (2,253 adults and 138 juveniles completed their session, which is a compliance rate of 87.8%. A total of 21 adult defendants had sessions pending.

Drug and Alcohol Assessment Referrals (DAAR)

The DAAR program was created as part of the Safe Night Out Strategy aimed at reducing alcohol and drug-related violence in Queensland's nightlife. A DAAR court is available to defendants who identify substance use as a contributing factor to their offending behaviour but are not drug and/or alcohol dependent. A person can participate in a DAAR either while on bail or as part of a condition of their recognisance (good behaviour bond) at sentence.

Under the DAAR program, offenders are required to complete a one-off course involving a drug and alcohol assessment. Offenders are also provided with information by prescribed service providers funded by Queensland Health. If a DAAR participant is assessed as drug and/or alcohol dependent, the course providers can refer the person to more intensive drug and/or alcohol treatment.

In 2019-2020, 812 defendants were assessed for DAAR and 710 defendants (8 bail conditions and 702 recognisances) were found to be suitable and ordered to complete a DAAR course. Of these, 620 defendants completed the course, which is a compliance rate of 87.3%. Nine defendants had courses pending.

Domestic and Family Violence Programs

In 2019-2020 the rollout of specialist DFV courts was completed, with a dedicated DFV magistrate hearing all matters before the court including civil and criminal DFV related matters at Southport, Beenleigh, Townsville, Mount Isa and Palm Island.

Major court refurbishments were also completed at Beenleigh and Townsville Courthouses to support the specialist DFV courts at a cost of $20 million. The upgrades provide aggrieved parties with secure and comfortable waiting areas, secure access to the court rooms, new DFV courtrooms, a specialist DFV court registry and sufficient sound proofed meeting rooms for parties to meet with duty lawyers and support services prior to court.

In September 2019, KPMG delivered a report on culturally appropriate justice response for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people involved in DFV proceedings. The recommendations are being considered for implementation.

An external long-term evaluation of the Southport specialist DFV court commenced in July 2019 and will conclude in 2021. The long-term evaluation will:

- determine if the Southport DFV court is operating according to the intended specialist court model;
- measure progress in implementing the recommendations of the process evaluation in 2016-2017; and
- identify further areas for improvement in court responses to DFV, identify outcomes for victims, their families and for perpetrators and measure social and economic impacts connected with the Southport DFV court.

Departmental Support

Office of the Chief Magistrate

The Office of the Chief Magistrate is a dynamic working environment providing high quality and responsive services and support to the Chief Magistrate and two Deputy Chief Magistrates. The Office of the Chief Magistrate is also responsible for supporting and providing administrative support to the magistracy, acting magistrates and the judicial registrar throughout Queensland.

The operations of the Chief Magistrates Office relies on the support provided by the Legal Officers, Manager (Executive Support), Court Coordinator, Deputy Court Coordinator, Executive Support Officers, regionally based Judicial Support Officers and the Administrative Officer to the Chief Magistrate in relation to issues pertinent to the regions, including the budget, transfer arrangements, organisation of sittings for circuit courts, leave requirements, travel arrangements, accommodation bookings and the organisation of the magistrate's conferences. The office is also responsible for the publication of the Chief Magistrate's Notes and Practice Directions and rosters concerning magistrates.

All officers within the Chief Magistrates Office are dedicated to carrying out their tasks in a manner which is supportive to the Chief Magistrate, Deputy Chief Magistrates and all Magistrates.

Reform and Support Services

The Reform and Support Services (RSS) branch of the Court Services Queensland provides administrative and technical assistance to court staff. It comprises of the following units:

- Information and Court Technology (I&CT);
- Business Intelligence and Data Analytics (BIDA);
- Legal, Policy, Procedure and Development (LPPD);
- Business Transformation (BTU); and
- Transcript Coordination Team (TCT).

2019-2020 Highlights:

- The audio visual systems in a number of magistrates courtrooms were replaced and a significant number of those courtrooms had their audio visual systems capability increased.
- To support better access to, and delivery of services to Queensland Courts, RSS completed enhancements of our IT systems and digital capacity.
- QWIC enhancements resulted in a number of business improvements being realised. This includes:

- Enhancements to prepare QWIC for the introduction of electronic warrant data transfer; and
- Appeal form enhancements to permit the commonly used appeal forms to be produced from the system.
- Enhancements were also made to the SMS reminder system to extend this to remind Adult defendants of their upcoming appearance before court.
- The new Associates Portal was released in late December with all judicial officers and associates receiving access to improved portal.
- The payment gateway used by the QJAS the jury administration system, was upgraded to a newer version.
- The Listings Team received a boost through the work done to reduce manual updates through the Admissions process.
- RSS continued its focus on the security of Court systems by working with Information Technology Services to commence a detailed assessment of the QWIC system using the Information Security Management System framework. This work will continue into the next financial year.
- COVID-19 presented some challenges for the support of the Courts computer systems. The need to ensure the safety of the small team involved in day-to-day support of critical computer systems, saw a rapid transition to remote working, with zero impact to the operation of the computer systems.
- While the Civil Deemed Finalised solution was able to be urgently rolled out, the pandemic also highlighted how inflexible the existing aged Courts computer systems are, and this inflexibility saw alternatives searched for, and implemented to assist the public. In particular, RSS worked as part of a team with the Information Strategy Implementation Program, and the Appeals and Adjudications team to realise a process for on-line lodgement of probate applications using a new third party vendor system.
- Over the past twelve months, a number of initiatives were delivered to further improve the IT systems provided to magistrates including the migration of the Magistrates Portal to a contemporary, online hosted service enabling improved reliability and the ability for this service to be accessed via the magistrate's Judicial iPads.
- A new Magistrates File Server was also commissioned this past year. This has enabled the creation of a secure folder for individual magistrates to store their files, and shared folders. A secure folder was also implemented for Cairns magistrates and registry staff to allow secure access of documents in relation to Child protection matters.
- RSS provided substantial support to Courts staff across the state to facilitate instalment of the new VOIP Digital telephone solution undertaken by ITS.

Library Services

Supreme Court Library Queensland (SCLQ) was established under statute to serve the administration of justice in Queensland through provision of legal information services to the Queensland judiciary, legal profession and public. As the primary legal information provider for the State's judiciary and legal profession, the library provides a comprehensive suite of services including reference, research and document delivery, training and support, and publication of the official unreported decisions of Queensland courts and tribunals, together with a variety of current awareness services reporting the latest developments in Queensland of law. All of these services are freely available to Queensland's magistrates across the state.

The library maintains print collections in several provincial courthouses in addition to the main library collection in Brisbane at the QEII Courts of Law. It also continues to service the library collection in Central Brisbane Magistrates Courts building as well as collections for the Supreme and District Courts, by maintaining print subscription services and processing new acquisitions. In 2019-2020 the library's combined print collection comprised over 160,000 items, with the library purchasing 243 new monographs during the year, and maintaining almost 300 print subscriptions.

For members of the judiciary their statewide desktop access to an expanding collection of over 1,000 online resources available via the library's Judicial Virtual Library (JVL) is their most comprehensive, current and reliable source of legal information. In 2019-2020 the library catalogue enabled access to more than 65,000 online full text titles, with 705 new records added to the catalogue during the year. During 2015-2016 the library negotiated expanded access rights for many library customers to a selection of the most popular online publications as part of its Virtual Legal Library (VLL) offering to the legal profession. This ground breaking and highly valued service was accessible to 744 eligible Queensland legal practitioners by the end of June 2020, while another 253 practitioners not normally eligible for access were provided with temporary emergency pandemic access from 7 May 2020.

As for the publishing arm of the Queensland courts, the library has maintained its commitment to timely publication of the official version of full text unreported judgments from Queensland courts and tribunals. Most decisions are published online within an hour of being handed down, making the SCLQ website the primary and most current and authoritative access point for Queensland case law. In 2019-2020 the library published over 3,000 new decisions from Queensland courts and tribunals, as well as expanding the publicly available case law with the addition of historical decisions of the Queensland Industrial Relations Commission and judgments of the Industrial Court of Queensland for the period 2000 to 2009. By the end of June 2020 the total number of full text Queensland decisions available from the library website was over 64,000. The number of public sentencing remarks the library made available on its website increased substantially during the year, as a result of the adoption by the courts of the Industrie of the library's Sentencing Remarks Subcommittee, chaired by the Hon Justice Helen Bowskill.

The library is also responsible for provision and maintenance of the Queensland's Sentencing Information Service (QSIS), and use of the service continues to steadily increase, with over 725,500 page views in 2019-2020. During that year, more than 6,800 new sentencing remarks transcripts were added to the database, increasing the number of available transcripts in QSIS to over 88,000. By year's end there were 804 subscriptions to QSIS by sole practitioners, law firms and small public sector agencies or business units (in addition to the 'corporate' subscriptions of major criminal justice sector agencies such as the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions, Legal Aid Queensland and Queensland Police Service, which provide access to many individuals employed by them). QSIS is relied upon by the prosecution, defence and judiciary to promote consistency and fairness in sentencing criminal offenders and is available to all magistrates.

The library's websites are the primary means of accessing its information resources and services for the majority of its customers. In 2019-2020 more than 6.6 million page views were recorded from the SCLQ public website, JVL, VLL and library catalogue combined. Specialist legal research tools developed by the library, including the Uniform Civil Procedure Rules Bulletin, comprise part of the wide range of legal content available to the judiciary via the library's websites. In all, CaseLaw services (including the official unreported judgments collection) recorded more than 4.5 million page views over the year.

The library provides a range of current awareness services to magistrates, including the Magistrates Daily Update service, a daily news and current awareness newsletter tailored specifically for the magistracy. It also publishes and distributes the Queensland Legal Update (QLU), a weekly email bulletin designed to update legal professionals on changes to legislation and developments in case law relevant to legal practice in Queensland. Together, the judicial current awareness services and QLU recorded over 126,000 views during the year.

Throughout the year the library's skilled and experienced research librarians continued to assist the judiciary and legal profession with navigating the legal research tools within the library's print and online collections. The team responded to over 7,100 information enquiries (10% higher than the previous year), and almost 22,000 documents were supplied in response to these queries (up 13% on 2018-2019). At the annual Magistrates Conference in October 2019 the library presented a legal research session focusing on the legal research publications available on the iPad tablet devices issued to magistrates, and offered an onsite clinic providing personalised assistance with using these resources. As the official member library of the Bar Association of Queensland and the Queensland Law Society, the library services the information needs of legal practitioners across the state.

The library's legal heritage and education programs are designed to foster broad appreciation of Queensland's legal heritage and to promote an understanding of the Queensland justice system and its role in society. Highlights during 2019-2020 included:

- Over 4,500 visitors participated in the popular schools education program, with over 1,400 participants in judge's or magistrate's information sessions and over 2,600 students witnessing the law in action by observing court proceedings. This was a 37% decrease on 2018-2019 due to schools cancelling excursions in early 2020 and the library suspending its on premises education program from 26 March 2020 in response to the coronavirus pandemic. However, during the suspension of the educated program 202 students participated in online research training sessions conducted remotely by library staff.
- A new exhibition, Graphic justice: pictures worth 1000 words, was installed in the Sir Harry Gibbs Legal Heritage Centre in May 2020 but was unable to be opened to the public at that time due to the social distancing restrictions associated with the pandemic. An online version of that exhibition was launched in May 2020 with the physical exhibition opening to the public in July 2020.

- Two Selden Society lectures were held in the second half of 2019. The 2020 lecture program was suspended from April 2020 due to the pandemic restrictions on large gatherings.
- There were a number of legal heritage displays within the main library public space over the course of the year Moving north: Townsville triumphant (September to November 2019), Celebrate! Queensland legal ceremonies (December 2019 to March 2020) and Out of the centre (installed June 2020). The display Moving north: Townsville triumphant was also installed as an ongoing exhibition in the library premises in Townsville.
- The Queensland Legal Yearbook 2018 reviewed the year's legal events and statistics, and contained speeches by members of the judiciary in 2018.

Looking ahead to 2020-2021, there will be a continued focus by the library on providing a high level of support to Queensland's busy magistrates. We will continue to support adoption by magistrates of the 'go anywhere' electronic versions of popular legal commentaries and textbooks designed to be downloaded to tablets and other mobile devices, as well as providing training and support in identifying, locating and making more effective and efficient use of the range of print, electronic and online resources available to the judiciary via the JVL. The former was facilitated by provision of new iPad tablet devices to all magistrates during the latter part of 2019. We look forward to increased use of the VLL service by eligible Queensland legal practitioners, and to redeveloped SCLQ CaseLaw services and websites. Together these initiatives will contribute to improved legal information services for the Queensland judiciary, legal profession and public.

David Bratchford, Supreme Court Librarian.

Court Network

Court Network Inc is a not-for-profit organisation which provides services within the courts and to court users across the state via a dedicated phone line. It provides non-legal information, support, and referral services to court users in the Brisbane, Cairns and Townsville Magistrates Court, Domestic Violence reception desks at Southport, Beenleigh, Ipswich and Brisbane Domestic Violence Courts and specialised victim support services through its Victim Support Unit to victims of violent crime attending Brisbane CBD, Ipswich, Townsville and remote services to Sunshine Coast and Gympie Courts. All of its front-line services are provided by volunteers, called Networkers. Court Network supports Court Users across both Criminal and Civil matters.

Court Network services are available, free of charge, to any court user – applicants/complainants, respondents/defendants, victims, witnesses, family and friends. Networkers offer pre-court tours, in-court support, assist people to navigate the courts, provide emotional support and explain some aspects of legal process and procedure. Within the Domestic Violence Courts our volunteers provide a check in service that refers to the appropriate stakeholders and assist with the flow of the court. For many people, attending court is a daunting experience and Networkers provide a friendly and helpful presence in a challenging environment. Due to the COVID-19 changes within our community in 2020 Court Network established a phone service manned by Networkers which is accessibly statewide Monday to Friday from 9am – 5pm. This means that we are now able to provide information, support and referral to court users regardless of their location within Qld.

The Victim Support Unit provides short or long-term support across the life of a criminal case. A professional program manager prepares support plans and volunteers are assigned to liaise with individuals, offering assistance with preparation of victim impact statements, financial assistance applications, pre and in-court support, emotional support and referral to services including counselling.

Within the Magistrates' Courts, Court Network services are provided at a range of locations including:

- Information desks at the entrances
- Domestic violence court reception desks
- Arrest Court
- A variety of speciality courts such as traffic, Drug diversion, Murri Court.

We will be creative, flexible and responsive as we work collaboratively with our partners in the Courts. In the 2020-2021 financial year the Queensland Government will be reviewing the funding of these programs.

Complaints Policy

Our complaints policy and procedure offers a process for bringing complaints about judicial conduct to the attention of the Chief Magistrate and, if appropriate, the magistrate or judicial registrar concerned.

What this policy covers

This policy covers complaints about two types of conduct of magistrates (including acting magistrates) and judicial registrars:

- judicial conduct
- delays in the delivery of reserved judgments.

This policy does not provide a mechanism for dealing with complaints about:

- the result of a case, or a magistrate's decision. Decisions can be reviewed on appeal
- parties to a matter or their legal representatives
- police officers

The Chief Magistrate of Queensland has administrative responsibility for the Magistrates Court. However, due to the principle of judicial independence observed in Australian Courts the Chief Magistrate is not able to direct, influence or seek to direct or influence judicial officers as to how to conduct or decide matters that come before them. The Chief Magistrate has no power to review decisions of magistrate or remove magistrates.

Download the policy document

Before making a complaint about a magistrate or judicial registrar, see the full policy document (PDF, 289.4 KB) for information to help you decide whether you have a complaint, about whom and your rights.

How to make a complaint

Make a complaint by either:

- email: cmoffice@justice.qld.gov.au
- post: The Chief Magistrate, GPO Box 1649, Brisbane Qld 4001

Include the following information:

- your full name
- postal address
- contact telephone number
- case name and file number (if applicable)
- details of the relevant events
- any evidence that supports your complaint
- whether you have reported your complaint to anyone else

• action you would like to see as a result of your complaint.

Acknowledgment of complaints

The court usually acknowledges receipt of complaints within 7 working days.

The Chief Magistrate provides a considered response within 20 working days of receiving the complaint.

If it's not possible to respond within that time, you'll receive a letter outlining the reason for the delay.

Magistrates Court of Queensland

Magistrates Complaint Policy

Background and introduction

The Chief Magistrate has administrative responsibility for the orderly and expeditious exercise of the jurisdiction and powers of the Magistrates Courts.

However, due to the principle of judicial independence observed in Australian Courts, this does not extend to directing, or influencing, or seeking to direct or influence the Court's judicial officers as to how to decide matters that come before them.

In Queensland the Magistrates Act 1991 provides that a Magistrate (including acting magistrates) must not be removed from office unless the Supreme Court decides that a proper cause exists.

Magistrates are accountable through the public nature of their work. They have an obligation to hear both sides of a case and to give reasons for their decisions. Their decisions are subject to appeal. They must disqualify themselves from hearing a case in which they have a personal interest.

With limited exceptions, court hearings are open to the public, and, subject to certain statutory limitations can be reported in the news media.

This complaints policy offers a process by which complaints about judicial conduct can be brought to the attention of the Chief Magistrate and, if appropriate, the magistrate concerned.

It also provides:

- An opportunity for complaints to be dealt with in an appropriate manner
- Valuable feedback to the Court and to its magistrates
- Opportunities for the Court to explain the nature of its work, correct misunderstandings where they have occurred, and,
- Where appropriate, opportunities to improve the performance of the Court.

A magistrate is not obliged to respond to a Complaint received directly from a member of the public.

Objectives

The objective of this complaints policy is to provide a framework for complaints management across the magistracy.

Policy statement

The complaint policy and the procedures that follow are underpinned by principles of openness and accountability; responsiveness; natural justice and procedural fairness; and privacy.

- Members of the public will have access to information about how and where to make a complaint.
- Complaints will be dealt with in a timely manner.
- Principles of natural justice and procedural fairness will be applied to all complaints.
- Parties to a complaint will receive information that clearly explains how the complaint was dealt with by the Chief Magistrate.
- Complainants will be assured of anonymity and the complaint will be treated in confidence.

What is a complaint?

For the purposes of this policy, a complaint is defined as an expression of dissatisfaction about the judicial conduct of a magistrate.

Judicial conduct, for the purposes of this policy and procedure, means conduct of a magistrate in court or in connection with a case in the Magistrates Court, or in connection with the performance of a Magistrate's judicial functions.

This complaint policy and procedure does not, and cannot, provide a mechanism for:

- Disciplining a magistrate
- Dealing with complaints about the conduct of proceedings
- Dealing with complaints about a decision of magistrate that could be dealt with on appeal
- Dealing with complaints about parties to a matter or their legal representatives
- Dealing with complaints about police officers.

Complaint categories Administrative issues

A party may make a complaint about the services delivered by the registry staff. Such complaints are generally referred to the Clerk of the Court of the Court concerned.

A party may complain about other administrative staff of the Court. Such complaints are generally referred to the Executive Director, Magistrates Courts Service.

Complaints about judicial decisions and conduct of proceedings – cases that could be dealt with on appeal or review

Parties who are concerned about the result of a case, or about any other matter in connection with the case, should consider whether or not to appeal or seek review. There are strict time limits for appeals and reviews and parties to act promptly.

The Chief Magistrate has no power to interfere with any decision made by a magistrate and complaints about the result of a case are outside the scope of the complaints policy and procedure.

Complaints in pending proceedings

Generally, it will not be appropriate for the Chief Magistrate to investigate complaints about the conduct of pending proceedings. In most cases it will be appropriate for you to raise your complaint in court when your matter is next listed for hearing.

Complaints about judicial conduct

A complaint about judicial conduct must be made in writing addressed to the Chief Magistrate.

If the Chief Magistrate receives such a complaint they will first make sure that the complaint is about judicial conduct. They will make sure that the complaint is not about the result of the case or about something else that was capable of being raised in an appeal or on review and therefore outside the scope of the complaints policy and procedure.

If the Chief Magistrate considers that the complaint is about judicial conduct, they will then consider whether, on the facts, the complaint has substance; and whether to invite the magistrate concerned, to respond.

If the Chief Magistrate considers that dealing with the complaint might have an adverse effect on the disposition of a matter currently before the Court they may defer dealing with the complaint until the determination of the matter. If so, the magistrate dealing with the matter would not normally be advised of the complaint to avoid any possible perception of bias, and the complainant would be informed of this.

The Chief Magistrate will generally provide a formal acknowledgment of receipt of your complaint within 7 working days of your complaint. A considered response will ordinarily be forwarded within 20 working days of receipt of your complaint. If it is not possible to respond within that time a letter will be sent outlining the reason for the delay.

Because the process cannot provide a mechanism for disciplining magistrates, the Court's response will not address anything other than the substance of the complainant. However, as indicated, it provides an opportunity for the Chief Magistrate to improve the performance of the Court if behaviour falls short of expected judicial standards.

If the matter warranted it, the Chief Magistrate would bring the conduct complained of to the attention of the Crime and Misconduct Commission.

Once the matter is referred to the Crime and Misconduct Commission the Crime and Misconduct Act 2001 applies. Consistent with the Magistrates Act 1991 the Crime and Misconduct Commission in exercising its powers in relation to the conduct of the magistrate must proceed having proper regard for, and proper regard for the importance of preserving, the independence of judicial officers.

This means that the Chairperson of the Crime and Misconduct Commission must consult with the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court in conducting any investigation into the conduct of the magistrate; and the Crime and Misconduct Commission's authority is limited to investigating misconduct of a kind that, if established, would warrant the magistrate's removal.

Complaints about delay in delivery of reserved judgements

A party may express concerns or make complaints about delay in the delivery of a judgement. A legally represented party may approach the President of the Queensland Law Society and request that the President take up the matter with the Chief Magistrate, or alternatively, write directly to the Chief Magistrate. The Chief Magistrate will look into the matter and, if appropriate, take it up with the magistrate concerned.

Self-represented litigants should write directly to the Chief Magistrate.

The Court aims to deliver all judgements promptly and has a bench mark of three (3) months from the date the case is last heard. Most judgements are delivered within this timeframe, but sometimes they take longer, particularly in complex cases.

Vexatious complaints and complainant misconduct

The Court may not respond to your complaint if it is vexatious or lacks substance. If a complaint raises issues which have already been responded to then no further response will be provided.

Explanatory Notes

Report on Government Services Counting Rules

The counting system used for the tables of statistics that follow in this report is that of the Report on Government Services (RoGS). Each year the Productivity Commission issues RoGS which compares the activity of courts across the nation. RoGS measures lodgements, as lodgements reflect community demand for court services.

The different ways of counting a court's workload reflect the variety of work undertaken within the courts. These are the counting units for the tables that follow:

Criminal lodgements – The units of measurement of workload used for criminal jurisdictions are lodgements base on the number of defendants and charges.

Civil claim lodgements – The units of measurement of workload used for civil jurisdictions are lodgements based on the number of cases.

Domestic and family violence protection applications – The unit of measurement of workload for these applications are lodgements based on the number of cases.

Definitions of key terms and indicators:

Defendant – The measurement of workload in the criminal jurisdiction. A defendant is "one defendant; with one or more charges laid on the same complaint/notice". Each defendant's case with one or more related charges is counted as a separate lodgement. Where the same defendant has two cases lodged on the same day this is counted as two lodgements. Where the same defendants has multiple cases lodged on different days one lodgement is counted for each case. Note that breach charges (e.g. bail, probation, suspended sentences, etc.,) are not included in the count.

Case – The measurement of workload in the civil jurisdiction. It is the issues, grievances or complaints that constitute a single and related series of disputes brought by an entity (or group of entities) against another entity (or group).

Lodgement – The initiation or commencement of a matter before the court. The date of commencement is counted as the date of registration of a court matter.

The Report on Government Services (RoGS) can be found at: www.pc.gov.au/gsp.rogs

Breach charges

RoGS does not include breach charges in its count of criminal lodgements. RoGS considers charges relating to a breach of a court order (e.g. bail, probation, suspended sentences, etc.) as a continuation of the original proceeding in which the order was made. Each breach charge however requires the lodgement of a new charge and requires the same Court resources to be finalised as any other charge. Appendix 1A contains a table showing the statistics for lodgements of criminal breach charges by the number of charges. It has been added as a report on the court's workload that is not distinguished in RoGS.

Childrens Court of Queensland Annual Report

Please note that the Childrens Court of Queensland Annual Report uses a different counting system based on the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) counting rules so the two reports cannot be compared. The main difference is the unit counted in the RoGS counting rules is lodgements, which gives a measure of workload, while the unit counted in the ABS counting rules is disposals, which gives a measure of results.

The Australian Bureau of Statistics can be found at: www.abs.gov.au
